

RIDBC Teleschool

RIDBC Teleschool provides education and therapy services to children with hearing or vision loss in regional and remote Australia, using high quality videoconferencing technology in the family home or other local facilities.

Experienced RIDBC therapists and teachers tailor an individual program for each child.

Services include:

- Intensive regular individual sessions
- Group parent sessions
- Information about hearing and/or vision loss
- Listening and Spoken Language development
- Auslan support if needed
- Braille tuition and vision loss support
- Parent networking and information
- A lending library with child and parent resources
- Transition to school and School Support
- Visits to RIDBC's North Rocks Campus, including:
 - early learning groups
 - preschool/school visits
 - assessments and planning
 - face-to-face sessions
 - on-site accommodation

Who can apply for enrolment?

RIDBC Teleschool services are available to any child in Australia who:

- Has a significant hearing impairment and/or a significant vision impairment.
- Is between the ages of 0–18
